

AUGUST 4

10:30 – 12:00

Concussion Management
Roni Robinson, MSN, CRNP
Concussion Management

- Roni L. Robinson is a Nurse Practitioner at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, where she sees patients in the Trauma Program and the Sports Medicine and Performance Center. Her research interests focus on the diagnosis and management of pediatric mild traumatic brain injury (concussion). Ms. Robinson is a member CIRP's Minds Matter concussion clinical research team

1:30-3:00

Mathematics Assessment and Intervention Practices for School Psychologists
(WILL be recorded)
Erica Kaurudar, NCSP PaTTAN Consultant
Jared Campbell
Math Interventions for School Psychologists

- Are you a school psychologist who would like to learn more about effective assessment practices to identify students' mathematical strengths and needs? Would you like to explore evidence-based interventions you can provide, or support teachers in providing, to help students master essential mathematics skills? In this session, we will highlight the link between assessment and intervention as well show you how to access to several free, evidence-based mathematics interventions.
- Mr. Jared Campbell is a former high school Algebra teacher. He is an Educational Consultant at the Pennsylvania Training and Technical Assistance Network (PaTTAN) Harrisburg office, where he serves as the Statewide Lead for the Mathematics initiative. Additionally, Mr. Campbell supports the work of the Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) initiative.
- Dr. Erica Kaurudar is a former district school psychologist for K-12 as well as an intermediate unit consultant. She is an Educational Consultant at the Pennsylvania Training and Technical Assistance Network (PaTTAN) Harrisburg office supporting the work of the Mathematics and Behavior initiatives. Additionally, she serves as the Statewide Lead for the School Psychology initiative.

3:30 – 5:00

School Psychology Guided Discussion Session
(WILL be recorded)
Ginny Kelbish
School Psychology Guided Discussion

- Ginny Kelbish has worked as a school psychologist for 23 years and has been at the Antietam School District for 21 of those years. She is a licensed psychologist and works part time in a private practice providing psychotherapy to children and adults. Her counseling work with students identified as displaying emotional support needs and her clinical work, helped her put to use simple techniques to better manage her perspective on situations with conflict.